The Crane Family - GEN.

In Normandy is the town of Crane on the banks of the stream called Crane. Here the family of Crane (Crane, Cran, Crain, Craine, Crayn) originated, and like many other families found its way into England with Wm the Conqueror. In England the name is found first in Suffolk Co. where William de Crane is listed ~~on~~ as among sixty-eight tenants of Sir William de Rouge.

The family became prominent and influential.

Sir Ralph Crane was with Sir Francis Drake ~~on~~ on the "Golden Hind" when he made the first trip around the world in 1577.

In 1619 Sir Francis Crane introduced into England the manufacture of arras tapestry and with the assistance of King James I who contributed two thousand pounds toward the enterprise, built the famous mills at Mortlake, Co. Surrey near London England.

Some were ambassadors to foreign courts, and one a keeper of the King's Forests.

The Crane coat of arms which found its way to America is as follows:-

Arms: Argent, a fesse between, three crosses crosslet fitchee, gules,

Crest: A crane, proper.

Motto: Omnia vincit veritas,

"Truth conquers all."

Property of
Vigo County Historical Society

The fesse is a belt of honor bestowed for courage in battle.

The crosses were given to the three members of the family who participated in the Fifth Crusade under the Knights Templars.

The crane is emblamitic of the name.

Jasper Crane of New Haven Conn and Newark, New Jersey, is the first of our branch of the family that we find to emigrate to America. He was in the New Haven colony on June 4, 1639 and signed the first agreement at a general meeting of all the free planters held in Mr. Newman's barn. He was a member of the General Court and many years a magistrate.

In 1666 - he with 22 others signed the first contract for "Milford" or the first settlement at Newark New Jersey was called.
In 1667 he headed the list of signers and church members of the first church at Newark and became one of the most influential and active men of the new colony - Jasper Crane and Robert Treat were the first magistrates in Newark -

In 1806 Newark was devided into three wards - These wards became separate towns and Bloomfield ward was so thoroughly occupied by descendants of Jasper Crane, that it was early called Crane town -
Jasper Crane b. about 1605 - died 1681 married Alice - (surname unknown)
~~One of their sons was~~ Azariah Crane b. 1649 - d. Nov. 5, 1730 1730 1649 81 known as Deacon Azariah Crane was no less prominent than his father. He held many offices of public trust. At his death he left his silver bowl to be used forever in the First Presbyterian church in Newark where he was deacon from 1690 until his death.
In April 19, 1698, the town of Newark voted that a committee of five should view whether Azariah Crane should be given land out of the Common for a Tanyard. - (This seems to be an occupation inherited through the Crane - Creal - ~~Barnett~~ families -)

Deacon Azariah Crane ~~Cranfield~~ married Mary Treat daughter of Capt. Robert Treat - She was born 1649; d - Nov 17, 1704. Their son

March 20, 1989

Your letter that was addressed to the Vigo County Historical Society was forwarded to us here in the Special Collections Dept. of the Vigo County Public Library.

I am enclosing a photocopy of Judge Crains' obituary from the Terre Haute Evening Gazette and a brief biographical sketch of Judge Crain from A Biographical Directory of the Indiana General Assembly. The former says that his father moved to Montgomery County, IN near Crawfordsville while John G. was "a mere child" while the latter states that it was in 1830. I later learned that both statements were incorrect.

After spending a considerable amount of time at the microfilm readers, it finally occurred to me to check Beckwith's History of Parke County, Indiana. There I found the biographical sketch that I am enclosing that answers your questions concerning the parents of John Grover Crain. His parents were Simon and Ruth (Moore) Crain.

I am also enclosing the 1870 Census of Vigo County, IN (Terre Haute) that lists Judge Crain's family. Other Crains listed were David, enumerated with Samuel Archer in the 1st Ward of T.H. Hannah, Elmiley, Lawrance M., and "little" Hannah also in the First Ward. In the Fifth Ward was a Thomas B. Crain household with Emily L., Milton A. and Mary L.

I also decided to enclose the 1924 obituary of A.D. Crain. I am wondering if he is the son who was sick in Iowa at the time of Judge Crain's death. The last item is a sentimental item: a photo of Judge Crain's house probably taken about 1880-1890. The caption below tells you that a third floor has been added (making this one of Terre Haute's tallest houses). The porch has also been widened and there are four Corinthian columns. Huge double doors sparkle with prismatic glass. The two-story carriage house, at the right side of the photo is remarkably solid today and, I believe, unchanged except that the small cupola is gone.

Thanks for the $2.00. Write again if you have additional questions.

DEATH OF JUDGE CRAIN.

Hon. John G. Crain died at twelve o'clock, last night. His sudden death causes a feeling of very general sorrow throughout the community. Only last Monday evening he was upon the streets and attending to business in his usual health. For several years he has been troubled with heart disease, and on Tuesday morning this resulted in paralysis. His wife discovered him about three o'clock, speechless and helpless in bed at her side. Drs. Thompson and Young were in attendance within an hour but it was a case wherein medicine could be of little help, and death came as above mentioned. Judge Crain was born in Montgomery county, Kentucky, in 1822, and in 1846 came to Newport, this state, and entered upon the practice of law, A few years later he removed to Rockville. He has been an honored citizen of Terre Haute for nearly twenty years, coming to this city to fill the position of revenue collector in the early days of the war. In 1866 he was elected a member of the Legislature from Vigo county, and in 1869 he received the appointment of Criminal Court Judge, an office which he held until the election of Judge Long, the following year. He leaves a handsome competence to his family, the result of economy, industry, and strict attention to business. An honest man and a useful citizen is lost to this community in the sad and sudden death of John G. Crain. Jan 16th 1880

THE Bar met last Monday morning and passed appropriate resolutiens on the death of Judge Crain, testifying that as a man of uprightness in all the relations of life; that as a private citizen, a public officer and lawyer, he leaves a name untarnished by the taint or touch of dishonesty or corruption; that as a lawyer, collector of public revenue, legislator, and judge, he was bold and fearless, indefatigable and conscientious in the discharge of all his duties; that he was a good and useful citizen, a true friend, a staunch patriot, a tender and affectionate husband and a kind an indulgent father; and that in his death the city of Terre Haute has sustained a serious loss. Remarks suited to the occasion were made by W. E. McLean, Wm. Eggleston, Judge Long, Wm. Mack, Judge John T. Scott, H. H. Boudinot, I. H. C. Royse, H. D. Scott, Col. T. H. Nelson, Mayor Havens, Judge Rhoads, Judge McNutt, General Cruft, and Judge Gookins.

Special Dispatch to The Chicago Tribune.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Jan. 17.—The Hon. John G. Crain died last night of a paralytic stroke. He was formerly Judge of the Criminal Court, was Collector under Lincoln's Administration, and a prominent citizen of this county.

CRAIN—Last night, at twelve o'clock, of paralysis, Judge John G. Crain, aged fifty-eight years.

The funeral services will be held at the family residence on south Sixth street, at 3 o'clock Monday next, Jan. 19th. Friends are invited to attend without further notice.

thank you for your consideration on this.
Sincerely,
Mrs. James Scott Crain

Judge John Grover Crain

To whom it may concern: My husband and I are having trouble finding the parents of John Grover Crain. He is my husband's great-great grandfather. We have done quite a bit of research at our local genealogical society, but to no avail. The people at the society suggested we write to you to see if you possibly have any information on him. Enclosed please find $2 for any copying fees, a copy of the obituaries, & a self-addressed, stamped envelope. (He was married to Jane Stark in 6 November 1850. She was the daughter of David W. Stark, & they were married in Rockville, Ind.) They had 4 sons: Alexander David, William Jackson, Edward & Charles Alfred.

Dear Mr. Lewis

Please forgive my tardy response in thanking you for all your hard work and effort in researching my husband's great great grandfather, Judge John G. Crain. Your letter and information were such a joy to receive. It was thrilling for us, in particular that to date we have received nothing even close to this amount of history, dates & facts, etc. The personal care and time you put in are appreciated more than you'll ever know. That's why we're enclosing an extra $15 to cover any additional copying fees, etc., since you gave us so much. (We have sent letters out to several locations in the country, and are realizing that response can be slow at best, and sometimes non-existent.) By the way, Alexander David Crain, my husband's great grandfather, was the son you suspected was unable to attend the Judge's funeral due to illness.

I wish everyone in the world could be as thoughtful and caring as you - we thank you from the bottom of our hearts -

Sincerely

Scott & Cindy Crain

I have read your letter of November 22nd and thought I would tell you that I too was at the Stevenson Cemetery one day last summer. My trip was unplanned. I was just out "joy riding" with the dog one afternoon. I do, however, recall seeing the Crane family tombstone that you have sent a picture of.

My immediate reaction was that the tombstone appears to be vintage 1930's or 40's perhaps a decade before or after those cited. I have never seen such a tombstone in the newer sections of our Vigo County Cemeteries. That was my first reaction and it still holds.

Since the last interment appears to be 1928 is it possible that John S. Crane or one of his survivors erected the stone because the original stones were in poor condition? Although your brother was there last summer, how many times has he been there in the last twenty years? Sometimes our memory fools us.

Sometimes on the reverse side of tombstones there is the name of the local monument company that erected it. Nearly all these companies have gone out of business or have had new owners over the last 50 years. If your brother lives in the Wabash Valley area you might have him check.

Today I have tried to call Mrs. Homer (Betty Easthom) who I was told was Otter Creek Twp. Trustee. In Indiana it is these trustees that supervise mowing of small cemeteries. However, I do not know how long she has held this position. I tried calling her number many times (812) 466-7419 but got no response so perhaps they are gone for the day.

Finally if you don't get satisfactory results you might send a query to the newspaper genealogy column. The query is free and should be 50 words or less and address to: Genealogy, The Tribune Star, P.O. Box 149, Terre Haute IN 47808. Enclose a legal size SASE if you wish to obtain a free copy of your published query.

Another avenue you might explore is placing a similar query on the GenWeb page.

Be advised that the Stevenson Cemetery is also known as the Sparks Cemetery today.

Dear Sir:

In about 1980 I visited the Stevenson Cemetery in North Terre Haute, IN. At that time there were a number of graves stones for John S. Crane and his family. Last summer my brother visited the Stevenson Cemetery and took the included picture, and found that someone had installed one tombstone for all the names. I would like to find out who installed the new stone as I have lost track of that branch of the family.

I contacted the Clay County Genealogical Society, Inc. in Center Point, IN., which I am a member and they could not help me. Since I have been to your library many time I thought you might be of some help or know of a way to help me find the person that installed the tombstone in the Stevenson Cemetery. I am including a map of where the Cemetery is located.

CRANE FAMILY

Daniel Slate was born in England in 1717 or 1718 coming to this country when a young man settling in Connecticut. He was married in 1748 & had 12 children:

Joseph
Daniel
Thomas
Jonathan
Lucy
Ebenezar--died in infancy
Zebe diah --died in infancy
Elizabeth

Daniel Slate died in Gill, Mass. Feb. 10, 1798 (age 81)
Mary (his wife) died in Gill, Mass. May 10, 1795 (age 83)

Joseph Slate was the oldest child of Daniel Slate and was born Feb. 22, 1734 at Norwich, Conn. & came to Bernardston, Mass. May 19, 1763. In 1764 he built a log house upon the place, afterward ownedby his son Isreal,& is still owned by his descendants.

He early became connected with military & civil affairs. He belonged to the Committee of Inspection in 1775, & of Correspondence Inspection & Sattey in 1776 & 1780.

He saw five years service in the French & Indian Wars and was actively engaged in the Revolutionary W ar. History says that on June 17, 1775, (the day of the Battle of Bunker Hill) that Capt. Joseph Slate (a here of French & Indiana War) was ploughing that self same day he heard or thouhgt he heard the sound of cannonading, although at a distance of 100 miles. He often applied his ear to the ground to satisfy himself.

He predicted that blood was being spilled in defence of his country, and he was right. Before night he left his ploughing and the next day was on his way to Boston. He became a Lieut. in Capt. Amasa Sheldon's 4th Co...Col. David Flaggs Reg., which was present at the surrender of Burgoyne. He became Capt. of the 4th Co., ofthe 5th Hampshire Co., Reg. Massachusetts Militia, commissioned June 18, 1780.

In 1758 May 5, he mattied Mary White of Colchester, Conn. They had 11 children.

He was also, a Lieut. in Capt John Welles Co, Col. Timothys Reg.

Capt. Joseh Slate died Nov 28, 1818 at age 84. Wife Mary died Jan 17, 1827 at age 89.

Isreal Slate was the second son of Capt. Jos. Slate & Mary and was born June 10, 1762 at Chatham, Conn. He came with his parents to Bernardston, Mass., when but a few months old and for over 90 years lived on the same farm. He married Phoebe Hurlbert, daughter of Gideon Hurlbert Feb. 17, 1784 at Chatham (now Coventry), Conn. They were married over 65 Yrs. Phoebe died Mar.23, 1849 at age 89 years. Isreal Slate died Oct. 17,1859 at he age of 97 yrs. The Sunday prior to his death he attended an all day service at the church. They had nine children:

Isreal Slate engaged in the industry of rope making about the year 1800. He made bed-cords, clothes lines, halters or heavior pieces of rope. His place of business was his home. It is said if he failed to find the requisite space for stretching & twisting that he took part of the street only leaving space for a team to pass on the farther side. It is written of him in the history of Bernardston (published 1902) that "Israel Slate was the best known of his generation; intelligent, keen of wit, of strong religious convictions, as was his wife, well versed in all that pertained to his time, which he delighted in relating to others. He was Uncle Israel to the town people."

Joel Slate was the eighth child of Israel & Phoebe Slate. He was born May 7,1800 in Bardston, Mass. He married Polly Hale (who was the daughter of (G) Daniel Hale and was born June 3, 1822. They had 7 children.

In 1836 Joel Slate brought his family to Worthington, Ohio and resided there until 1851 when he again moved West. He settleed this time in the ivinity of South English, Iowa. In this community he spent the rest of his life. His son Martin had prededed to this place and had entered a piece of land one mile west of what if now the town of South English, & built a cabin on it. At this place the family arrived after a six weeks journey in a covered wagon. Soon after Joel Slate entered the piece of land just across the road North and built a cabin and moved his family there. The last few years of his life were spent in the home of his daughter Mary, where he died June 5, 1874 at 74 years. His wife died Oct 9, 1874 at age 71 years.

The Vigo County Historical Society forwarded your letter of March 25 to the library.

I am enclosing a research report listing the sources I checked for your ancestors. Our Crane family file does contain several items on Benjamin Crane and his Vermillion county descendants. The file also contains information on prominent Crane families of England but does not really connect Benjamin with those families. If you would like copies of the items on the research report, our charge is 10¢ per page, plus postage.

Relatively little has been written on Vermillion county. I am enclosing a list of researchers in case you need courthouse or cemetery research. Newport, the seat of Vermillion county, is some distance from Terre Haute, so you will need to make your own arrangements with the researchers.

Dear Member,

I am currently doing research on the BENJAMIN CRANE family who came to Vermillion County, IN from Caledonia County, VT in the 1830's. Do you have a list of researchers who would be willing to do some research in that area? I have enclosed a SASE.

Thank you,

THE CRANE FAMILY.

In Normandy is the town of Craon on the banks of the stream called Cranne. Here the family of Crane (Cranne, Cran, Crain, Craine, Crayne, etc.) originated, and like many other families, found its way into England with William the Conqueror.

In England, the name is found first in Suffolk Co. where William de Crane is listed as among sixty-eight tenants of Sir William de Moyne.

The family became prominent and influential. Sir Ralph Crane was with Sir Frances Drake on the "Golden Hind" when he made the "first trip around the world" in 1577.

In 1619 Sir Frances Crane introduced into England the manufacture of curious tapestry and with the assistance of King James I, who contributed two thousand pounds to the enterprise, built the famous mills at Mortlake, Co. Surry near London, England.

Some were ambassadors to foreign courts, and one was Keeker of the King's Forests.

The Crane coat of arms which found its way to America is as follows:

Arms: Argent, a fesse between three crosses, crosslet, fitchee, gules.
Crest: A crane, proper.
Motto: Omnia Vincit Veritas.
(Truth conquers all things.)

The fesse is a belt of honor bestowed for courage in battle.
The crosses were given to the three members of the family who participated in the Fifth Crusade under the Knights Templars.
The Crane is emblematic of the name.

Jasper Crane of New Haven, Connecticut and Newark, New Jersey is the first of our branch of the famliy that we find in America. He was in the New Haven Colony on June 4, 1639 and signed the first agreemant at a general meeting of all the free planters held in Mr. Newman's barn. He was a member of the General Court and for many years a magistrate. In 1665 he with twenty-two others signed the first contract for "Milford" as the first settlement at Newark, New Jersey was called. In 1667 he headed the list of signers and church members of the first church at Newark and became one of the most influential and active men of the new colony. Jasper Crane and Robert Treat were the first magistrates of Newark.

In 1806, Newark was devided into three wards. These wards became separate towns and Bloomfield Ward was so thoroughly occupied by descendants of Jasper Crane that it was early called Cranetown. Jasper Crane was born about 1605; died 16 1; married Alice--(surname unknown). Their son

Azariah Crane born 1649; died November 5, 1730, known as Deacon Azariah Crane was no less prominent than his father. He held many offices of trust. At his death he left his silver bowl to be used forever in the First Presbyterian Church in Newark where he was deacon from 1690 until his death.

On April 19, 1693, the town of Newark voted that a committee of five should view whether Azariah Crane should be given land out of the Common for a tanyard. (This seems to be an inherited occupation through the Crane-Creal families.)

Deacon Azariah Crane married Mary Treat, daughter of Governor Robert Treat. She was born 1649; died Nov. 17, 1704. Their son

Azariah Crane Jr. born 1682 was also prominent in the New Jersey setlement. He married Rebecca---(surname unknown); died June 15, 1739. Their son

Stephen Crane died 1794; married Rhoda Holloway. Stephen Crane served in the Revolutionary War, with the New Jersey state troops in Captain Squires company, 2nd regiment, Essex Co. New Jersey. To complete a record for the societies of the Sons or Daughters of the American Revolution, the following references will be needed:

Crane Geneology, by E.B. Crane, pp 307-317-343.
Jerseymen in the Revolution, Stryker, p 562.
Littel's Passaic Valley Settlers.

Stephen and Rhoda Holloway Crane had a daughter

Lois Crane who died November 7, 1831 aged 64 and is burried at Hanover, New Jersey. She married Justus (Justice) Burnett.

Crane

This family Crane or de Crayne was originally from Normandy and settled in Co. Suffolk, England.

The arms show that three of the family participated in the 5th Crusade under the Grand Priar of the Templars.

Some were embassadors to foreign Courts, and one a Keeper of the King's Forests.

Sir Ralph Crayne was with Sir Francis Drake, when, on the "Golden Hind" - he visited America in 1577.

United crews mustered only 166 men - They sailed on the 13th of Dec. 1577.

They returned to the harbour of Plymouth on the 8th of Nov. 1580.

On his return he had only 57 men -.

Soon after his return Queen Elizabeth paid a visit to Deptford, went on board his ship, and there, after partaking of a banquet, conferred on Sir Francis Drake the honor of Knight-hood - and at the same time declaring her approbation of all that he had done. She likewise gave direction for the preservation of his ship "the Golden Hind", that it might remain a monument of his own and his Country's glory. After a lapse of a century it decayed and had to be broken up.

Of the sacred timber a chair was made which was presented by Charles II - to the University of Oxford.

Another bird for which heraldry has created a term of its own - is the Crane.

It is seldom met with except holding a stone in its (right) - Claw. the term for which stone is "Vigilance". A Curious old fable explains the whole matter, being that the Crane held the stone in its claw or that, if by any chance it fell asleep the stone falling would awaken it; thus acting as its "Vigilance".

The word -jed-i-gree- is from fried-de gine, the appearance of a Crane's foot.

Heraldic representations make little, if any difference when depicting a Crane, a Stork or a heron - except that the tuft on the head of the latter is never omitted when a heron is intended.

Instances of the Stork are of daily frequent occurrence - the usual Heraldic method of depicting the bird being with the wings closed.

Five families known in this country as early as 1666. It is not known from what particular locality in England they came (you get this from the other account).

Jasper Crane the oldest, was one of the founders of Newark N. J. He had a family when he came to this country. He appeared in the New Haven Colony as early as 1639.

He had several sons - Azariah, was born in 1648 - d. 1730.

Azariah Crane 3rd son of Jasper took a prominent part in the Newark Colony and Church and married a daughter of Robert Treat, who afterwards returned to Milford Conn. And some of his descendants settled what was originally called Crane Town - now known as Mont-Clair N. J.

A CORNER IN ANCESTORS

THE CRANE FAMILY

No family in the country has a more honorable record than the Cranes. The earliest mention of the family appears in 1637, the name being variously spelledCrane,Cran, Cranne, Crain,Craine,Crayne.

Jasper Crane who came from England in 1637 with Alice,his wife,was the emmigrant ancestor.All efforts to discover Alice's family name have been unsuccessful although much time and money have been spent in the search.Their son, Jasper Crane, second, who was born APRIL SECOND in 1651, was one of the prominent men of the New Haven Colony, and one of the original settlers of Newark, N.J. His numerous descendants are scattered throughout the middle western southern states. He was one of the committee of safety to protect the New Haven Colony against De Ruyter, the Dutch Admiral who cruised in Long Island Sound and threathened the settlements. During the Revolutionary War the Connecticut Colony to increase facilites for coast defense put into service three boats or galleys.One called the Crane was named in honor of the family who stood so loyally by the Colony. It was sent to New York to assist in its defense under General Washington.Even the exact cost of the Crane has been recorded,L 7013,6s,10d.

Of the Cranes who gave their services to their country there was Ebenezer Crane, a private of the militia designated as "Lexington Alarm". Members of the family served as privates, corporals and captains, not only in the Revolution and all Colonial wars, but in that of 1812 and the Mexican War.

Any one who can claim a Crane as an ancestor has no trouble in proving eligibility to the various patriotic socities Colonial Dames or Revolutionary Daughters and Sons. Love of country has ever been a distinguishing trait of the family as well as upright business principles. No descendant so far as known , has ever been a criminal , a pauper or a suicide.

When Edmund Addros demanded the surrender of the charter of Connecticut Benjamin Crane was one among those who opposed him. According to the records Benjamin was a person of independence, or was so considered because he deferred his marriage until he had reached the ripe age of one score and ten, early marriages were the rule then .To defer such an important event until thirty years of age must have required no small degree of independence.

The general court of the Connecticutt Colony ordered that no young unmarried man, unless he were a public officer or had a servant, could keep house alone, except by license of the town, under a penalty of 20 shillings per week and that no head of a family should entertain such young men under a like penalty without liberty from the town.

The Cranes are descended from Lord Arundell's family and inherit the blood of Charlemange and Hugh Capet, both of whom claimed to spring from Pharamond and through him from Antenor,King of the Cimmerians,B.C. 443.

Of Dame Anne Arundell, it is recorded that she left by will which was proved in 1521, money for wax tapers for the day of her burying and afterward for use at mass;also money for bells to sing dirges at her obsequies.She willed her "Best blue velvet goen to Chilton Church, to make a vestment for a deacon". Her "Best black gown" furred with white marten and lined with velvet fell to the lot of relatives.

Chilton , near Sudbury, in Suffolk, is the home of the Cranes;they lived at Chilton Hall, a moated manor of some distinction and were lords of the manor. In Chilton Church is an elaborate marble monument to the menory of Sir Robert Crane who was knighted by James I. He is in armor and kneeling with clasped hands. His two wives are represented beside him. They, too, are kneeling in devotional attitude with clasped hands.Dorothy, the first wife, lived with her husband"in great love and amity seventeen years, and willingly yielded up this life in expectation of a better , April 11,1624. The epitaph conc luded with the lines;"

"If thee readest with eles (eyes) dry
Thou a marble art, not I."

Susan, the second wife , has no poetry devoted to her epitaph.

A John Crane was clerk of the kitchen to James I. a position of much honor.

A Robert Crane of Suffolk was one of the gentlemen chosen by the King Charles II in 1666 to be made a knight of the Royal Oak.He had an estate of $ 75,000 a year.

The Cranes in England have borne five coats of arms, whether all of one family is not certain although there is no reason for believeing that they had special grants for special services. The several amorials with one exception. A member of the Crane family of Yorkshire, County, England, on noticing his neighbors Corbetts motto, " Deus pascil corcus" (God feeds the crows) wrote for his motto "Qui pascit carios non obliviscitus grus" (He who feeds the crows will not forget the cranes.) The arms are described in heraldry as argent, a fesse or bar between three crosses crosslet, gules crest a crane.
